Claim

- The MAIN argument or position an author takes on a particular issue/topic.
- EX) Turtles are dying at alarming rates due to pollution rather than natural causes.
- EX) Self driving cars are more dangerous than useful for society.

Premise

- The reason WHY the author has their stance on this particular issue.
- Serves as a basis for the argument.
- EX) Turtles are dying at alarming rates from plastic waste.
- EX) Self-driving cars are dangerous because they can be hacked.

Evidence

- Facts, statistics, or information used by the author to back up each premise an author uses to back up his or her claim.
- EX) 1 / 3 turtles die directly from choking on plastic waste in the ocean.
- EX) 30 Tesla self-driving cars have crashed in the past year to date.

Counterclaim

- An opposing claim the author uses to show the opposite side of the argument
- The author then debunks/refutes this claim
- EX) Some scientists have argued that a toxic green algae is to blame in the sudden deaths of sea turtles. However, this algae only accounted for 60 turtle deaths last year, out of 3,000.
- EX) Some people argue that self-driving cars are more safe due to lack of human error. However, self-driving cars are more likely to be hacked or have software malfunctions.
